MORE THAN 17,000 GERMAN PRISONERS AND 300 LARGE GUNS TAKEN BY ALLIES

ALLIES SWEEP HUNS BACK SEVEN MILES

Making Material Progress Over Entire Picardy Battle Front of Twenty Miles

GAIN NEARLY 13 MILES

Montdidier Now in Uncomfortable Position and Abandonment of Entire Salient Within Realm of Possibility

(By the Associated Press).

Over a curving front of more than 20 miles the British and French troops are continuing to sweep back the Germans eastward across the plains of Picardy from the region north of the Somme east of Morlancourt to the eastern bank of the Avre northwest of Montdidier.

As on the first day of the offensive, material progress was made Friday over the entire battle front. Many additional villages were captured; the band of prisoners was largely increased; numerous guns and great quantities of war stores were taken and heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy by tanks, armored motor cars, the cavalrymen and the infantry. The losses sustained by the Anglo-French forces were declared to be relatively small. To the Allied forces there have fallen 17,000 German prisoners and between 200 and 300 guns, many of them of heavy caliber, and innumerable machine guns, trench mortars and kindred small weapons.

To the north of the Picardy theatre the Germans also have given ground on two important sectors—on the famous Lys salient, northwest of LaBassee, and in the region southwest of Ypres on the equally famous battle ground of Kemmel. On the Lys sector territory over a front of more than seven miles was evacuated by the enemy, while to the north of Kemmel the British advanced their line over a front exceeding 1,000 yards. Those maneuvers on the part of the Germans seemingly indicate that they either consider their ground insecure in the face of the heavy forces General Haig is known to have in both regions to ward off any attempt to reach the channel ports, or that Crown Prince Rupprecht's army has been materially decreased in strength to rush reinforcements to the battle zone where the German armies in the south are being sorely harassed. Already having penetrated the Picardy salient to a depth of nearly 13 miles in the center toward the vicinity of the important railroad junction of Chaulnes and at other points along the Arc pushed forward between 5 and 7 miles, the northern and southern flank of the battle front, where the Germans have been resisting desperately, gave way before the pressure respectively of the British and French.

On the north, the British captured Morlancourt and pressed on eastward, while on the south, northwest of Montdidier, Pierrepont, Contoire and Arvillers were taken by the French who drove in their wedge to a distance of more than eight and one-half miles.

The tanks, armored cars and cavalry are still working throughout the entire region, while airplanes are soaring far behind the lines, bombing transports and troops movements and also paying particular attention to the bridges over the Somme by which the enemy is endeavoring to escape from their advancing foes. All behind the line the Germans are destroying ammunition depots as they quit their positions.

With the new turn of events Montdidier is in an uncomfortable position, with the Allies hammering away cross-fire at the Germans holding it and with the only railroad leading into the town also under their fire. A forced evacuation of the town seems not improbable. In fact, with further pressure eastward by the Allies between the Somme and the Avre and with the possibility of pressure northward against the Germans from the line running northwestward from Soissons it is not outside the realm of possibility that the entire Montdidier salient will have to be abandoned.

There has been little fighting of great moment on the Vesle river, except in the nature of reciprocal artillery duels. The Americans, however, have made another crossing of the Vesle and captured the village of Fismette, northwest of Fismes.

I. W. W. HAYWOOD NEVER ADVOCATED VIOLENCE

He Tells the Court in Chicago—Says Social Reforms Must Come Through Industrial Methods

Chicago, Ill., August 9. — William D. Haywood, characterized by government counsel as the "Swivel Chair King" of a conspiracy to upset the American military program, stoutly denied on the witness stand late today that he had ever advocated violence, and reasserted his views that essential social reforms must be brought about by industrial rather than political methods.

The general secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Workers of the World, as chief witness for the defense, reviewed the stormy career of the I. W. W. from its organization in 1905 by members of the Western Federation of Miners, the American Labor Union, the Social Trade and Labor Alliance and similar organizations, up to the industrial strife in 1909. He reaffirmed his belief in the I. W. W. preamble to the declaration of its principles which says "There can be nothing in common between employer and worker," and then pointed to what he termed the small political power of the working people.

"The employing class is wholly concerned in profit-making and this condition brought about such tragedies as occurred at Ludlow and Bisbee," he said.

"In Colorado the politicans and big interests were violating eight state laws during the bloody industrial war preceding the killing of Governor Steenberg of Idaho," the witness asserted. Then he told of the arrest of Pettibone, Moyer, and himself for the murder, of their hasty removal to Idaho from Colorado, of their long detention at the penitentiary and the county jail and of his ultimate acquittal.

Haywood will resume the stand tomorrow.

GERMANS MAKE RE-CAPTURE.

London, England, August 9.—Canadian troops have captured Warvillers about two and one-half miles south of Rosieres, while the French have taken Arvillers to the southwest of Warvillers and seven miles from Roye. The Germans re-captured Chipilly, north of the Somme, by a strong counter attack today.

NEW LUXURY TAX SCHEDULE FIXED

Tax Imposed on Many Articles Not Deemed Luxuries, But For Which Large Prices Are Paid

TAX ON CAPITAL STOCK

Of Corporations Doubled With An Official Tax Advisory Board For Treasury Department

Washington, D. C., August 9.—A luxury tax schedule was adopted, an official advisory board for the treasury department created, the tax on corporation capital stock doubled to produce an additional $20,000,000 and a provision accepted making Liberty bonds security for all government contracts by the house ways and means committee today in framing the $8,000,000,000 bill. The committee adjourned late today until Monday when it will enter on the final stages of its task.

The luxury proposal accepted by the full committee, levies 10 per cent tax on all jewelry to be paid by the manufacturer, producer or importer. Covering approximately 1,200 items of jewelry it supplants the present low tax of 3 per cent on the manufacturer, producer or importer. The 10 per cent tax is also to be levied on such articles as arts, objects, pianos and pipe organs, furs, cash registers, typewriters, photographs and tapestry.

In view of the wide public demand for a tax on the price paid for certain other articles, not deemed luxuries by reason of their nature, above a certain price, the sub-committee proposed, and the full committee accepted a limited number of other groups of such articles, with suggested basic prices paid for them by the consumer, above which a 20 per cent tax is to be assessed, "against the seller to the consumer or user or to a person not for re-sale." This second group and the amount of excess over which is a sub-tax follows: Men's and young men's suits or overcoats, $50.00; men's and women's hats, bonnets and hoods, $25; women's and misses' dresses, $40; women's and misses' suits, cloaks and coats, sold at over $60; boots, shoes, pumps and slippers, for men, women and chilren, $10; men's and boys' hats, $5; men's and boys' caps, $2; picture frames, $10; fans, $1; men's waistcoats, sold distinct from suit, $5; silk underclothing and hoisery, pure and mixed, $10; men's and boys' neckwear, $2; trunks, $50; valises, traveling bags, suit cases and hat boxes, $25; ladies' purses, pocket books, shipping and hand bags, $7.50; carpets and rugs, fibre, $5 per square; umbrellas, parsols and sunshades, $40; men's shirts, $3; house or smoking jackets and bath robes, $10.

The luxury schedule provides that articles taxed under one of these groups shall not be taxed under the other.

The tax advisory board will consist of five members and the board will continue during the war and for one year afterwards. The President is to appoint the members with the advice of the senate. Their function will be to review and consider all matters submitted to them by the International Revenue commissioner as to interpretation and administration of the Internal Revenue Tax laws.

AMERICAN FIRE TERRIBLE

German Lieutenant in Letter Declares Nobody Could Have Withstood It. stood It.

Washington, D. C., August 9.—In a communique received late tonight, General Pershing reports the situation along the Vesle as unchanged.

The communique quoted from a letter found on the battlefield written by a German lieutenant, who was later killed, to his father, the writer's experience in the Chateau-Thierry sector:

"The Americans were attacking on the entire line. Never have I seen such a thing. Nobody could have withstood them," the lieutenant wrote. The letter further described the enemy's fire as terrible.

In closing the letter said: "Summing it all up, I think we have underestimated Foch and his reserves and especially the Americans. Presentiment I shall lose my skin also. I wish it were tomorrow."

FIGHTING CONTINUES.

London, England, August 9.—Fighting was still continuing between the Anglo-French forces and the Germans southeast of Amiens, according to the British official communication received from Field Marshal Haig this evening. The general line of Pierretont, Arvillers, Rosieres, Raincourt and Morcourt had been attained by the Allied troops this evening.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN WAR REVENUE BILL

Tax of 10 Per Cent on Leased Telephone and Telegraph Wires and Horse Power of Motor Cars

Washington, D. C., August 8.—A tax of 10 per cent on amounts paid for leased telephone and telegraph wires, including press associations and brokerage circuits, a horse-power tax on automobile owners and a doubling of the tobacco taxes of the present law, instead of a higher range rate previously agreed on, were written into the $8,000,000,000 revenue bill today by the house ways and means committee.

Chairman Kitchin, in a statement issued tonight, replied to the telegram of Secretary McAdoo favoring retension of the present excess-profits law and a flat 80 per cent war-profits tax as an alternative, according to the great revenue likely to be raised in each corporation's case.

Mr. Kitchin's statement indicated that the committee will retain in substance the dual or alternative system it agreed upon, but will insist that the excess profits tax, instead of remaining at the present rates, shall be increased, either as the committee has agreed on them, or by some compromise adjustment.

A resume of today's committee's work follows:

"The committee agreed to put a tax of three per cent on freight transportation within the United States originating in a foreign country to apply on that part of the shipment within the United States.

"We increased the tax on transportation of oil by pipe lines from five to 6 and one-half per cent.

"A tax of 10 per cent on the amount paid for leased wire and talking circuits was agreed to. That included telephones. There is no tax now on these leased wire lines. I have no estimate of revenue from this source. The tax will be paid by the lessees.

"On motion picture films we agreed on a new tax of five per cent on the rentals received from the producer.

"The committee reconsidered the tobacco schedule and in substance agreed to double all the present low rates on cigars, cigarettes and tobaccos. Heretofore the committee tentatively proposed rates that in some cases trebled the present low rates. The committee now has agreed to double and believes that it will obtain as much revenue thereby.

"The committee reconsidered the tax on users of automobiles and levied a tax on the basis of horse-power, as follows:

"Twenty-three horsepower or less, $10.00; 24 to 30 horsepower, $20.00; 31 to 40 horsepower, $30.00; more than 40 horsepower, $50.00. This includes trucks as well as passenger vehicles.

PENNSYLVANIA HIT HARD BY CASUALTIES

Out of 623 in Day's List 239 Were From That State and 79 Live in Philadelphia

Washington, D. C., August 9.—Including 623 announced today Army and Marine corps casualties received from overseas and made public since Monday, when the toll of the victory on the Marne-Aisne front began to come in, now total 3,758. Of these, 3,250 were soldiers and 508 marines.

Six army lists given out today contained 571 names, including 333 missing in action and the one Marine corps list had 52 names. The combined lists today showed an increase of 181 over those of yesterday, but their total was less than that of any one of the three days this week.

Nearly one-half of the men named in the army lists today were from Pennsylvania, the total from that state being 239, of whom 79 live in Philadelphia. The other men named were from various states.

The six army lists combined and the Marine corp list showed:

Killed in action, army, 163; Marine corp, four; died of wounds, army, nine; Marine corp, five; died of accident, army, one; Marine corp, none; died of disease, army, two, Marine corp, none; missing in action, army, 333; Marine corp, none; wounded severely, army, 24; Marine corp, 12; wounded, degree undetermined, army, 41; Marine corp, 31; wounded slightly, army two; Marine corp, none. Totals, army, 571; Marine corp, 52.

ACCEPT TENER'S RESIGNATION.

New York, August 9. — The resignation of John K. Tener, former governor of Pennsylvania, as president of the National Baseball league, was accepted tonight by a special committee of club presidents authorized to take such action.

TO LIBERALIZE THE DRAFT RULES

Baker Plans Regulations Which Will Take Care of the Classification of All Registrants

DATE MAY BE SEPT. 5

Measure Being Perfected—No Intention of Changing the Work or Fight Order

Washington, D. C., August 9. — "Plans for radical changes to liberalize the draft regulations are being worked out at the War department," Secretary Baker said today, after his appearance before the senate military committee to urge prompt enactment of the new draft bill extending the ages to include men between 18 and 45 years.

Mr. Baker thought it possible that the whole method of fixing deferred classifications would be changed so as to relieve registrants of the duty of claiming or refusing to claim exemption.

Many other suggestions as to liberalization of the regulations are being considered, he said. Among others is the possibility that the marriage relationship by itself, regardless of the dependency question, may serve to defer the time of a registrant's call to the colors. Mr. Baker said definitely that no plan for extending the work or fight rule to professional classes or beyond its present scope was under consideration.

The War Secretary made it plain that he is not satisfied with the present system, under which the registrant must claim deferred classification, as many men with dependents hesitate for patriotic reasons to make such claims.

What Mr. Baker has in mind is to lay down a set of questions which the registrant would answer and then have rules which would take care of the classification. He is understood to regard this as the fair and equitable system.

The discussion on the draft ages before the senate committee, Mr. Baker said, followed much the lines taken by General March, chief of staff, and Provost Marshal General Crowder. The committee, he added, did not indicate any disposition to question the necessity for the change, which is urged so that the War department can quickly secure the men necessary to win the war.

"There was some discussion," Mr. Baker said, "as to whether it was the intention of the department to extend the work-or-fight order to include classes of persons in various professional occupations. I told them there was no present change of the work-or-fight order in contemplation. I said that when I decided the baseball case, I thought perhaps other forms of amusement and entertainment might require an extension of the order to be on a parity with the baseball situation, but that was not in their mind.

"They had heard from outside sources that the department was considering bringing professional classes, like lawyers, newspaper men and persons who were not actually engaged in producing war supplies under the order."

"The committee," Mr. Baker continued, "was especially interested in the effect of the extension of the draft ages on colleges and also in the question as to whether young men from 18 up would be drawn indiscriminately in Class 1 or placed in a deferred class by age and drawn later, giving them some added months to come to maturity.

"I told the committee," said the War Secretary, "that no fixed policy had been determined upon by the department but that the purpose was to allow the president to defer in Class 1 the call of the youngest men. I have always considered as you perhaps remember that 19 was the preferable minimum and I have come to the 18 minimum only because it seems necessary to get the men.

"Not that I think men of 18 are necessarily too young, because I do not think that. I think that history shows that boys from 18 to 19 are immensely valuable, as valuable perhaps as from 19 to 20, but I think there is a sentiment in the country which will look with very much more anxious regard on the boys from 18 to 19 than the boys from 19 to 20. 18 years seems to most people a more tender age than 19 and it is for that reason that we are thinking of making this preferential deferment of men from 18 to 19."

Mr. Baker told the committee, senators said, that the department wanted to carry out the plan of registering the men September 5th so that Class 1 could be re-supplied. The present reservoir soon will be exhausted and it was said that either the size of the monthly calls must be reduced or men taken from the deferred classes.

Secretary Baker was the last of the army and navy officials to be called before the committee begins consideration of the new bill. Because of the committee's visit to the War council, Chairman Chamberlain announced that no meeting would be held tomorrow, but that the committee would assemble Monday, when an effort will be made to reach a favorable report on the measure.

A STRANGE "JOY RIDE" TAKEN ON OCEAN LINER

Officers of Yadkin Cruise About Mediterranean Selling Ship's Stores For Wine and Cash

New York, August 9 — Behind the arrest by federal officials today of six officers of the steamship Yadkin, a former North German Lloyd liner, taken over by the United States shipping board, lies the story of a strange "joy-ride," which the vessel is said to have taken through the Mediterranean after having recently landed a cargo of supplies for the Allied armies.

On this cruise, which constituted a "side trip" on the return voyage, the officers are said to have made merry, stopping at various ports and selling the ship's stores in order to supply themselves with wine and have spare cash. On arriving in this country several days overdue, their "alibi" is alleged to have been that submarines had driven them from their course.

This "explanation," however, is said to have been discredited when the officers of a Spanish ship, to whom an offer had been made at sea to sell the Yadkin's coal, became suspicious and reported the matter on their arrival to the United States shipping board. When the Yadkin eventually reached this country the ship's stores, valued at thousands of dollars, were practically exhausted, it is charged.

Details of the Mediterranean cruise are furnished in a confession said to have been obtained by Henry Ward Beers, assistant United States district attorney, from Edwin M. Reddy of Tompkinsville, chief officer of the Yadkin, who was arrested by a United States marshal with five others, on charges of conspiring to defraud the United States government.

The other prisoners, each of whom has been held in $5,000 bail, are William Wooster, third officer; John Joiff, chief engineer; and James Hanelink, first assistant engineer, all of New York city; George McGlinch, second officer, of Jersey City, and Fred Wetcel, second assistant engineer of Astoria. According to Mr. Beers, six more arrests may be expected as a result of Reddy's confession.

MORE ENEMY OWNED CORPORATIONS SEIZED

Among Them the Faber Pencil Concern and Berger & Wirth Co. of Brooklyn, Ink Makers

New York, August 9. — Seizure of four more enemy-owned corporations with a total capitalization in excess of $2,000,000 was announced here today by A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, after a conference with the Washington advisory committee of the selling branch of his department.

The companies, which will be sold under the supervision of Joseph S. Guffey, sales manager, at public auction and with the approval of the advisory committee, are:

The Berger & Wirth Co. of Brooklyn, manufacturers of printers' and lithographers' ink, organized about 1909 under the laws of New York and owned by Emil Wortitzer of Leipzig, Germany.

The G. Seigle Co., of Rosebank, S. I., manufacturers and importers of colors and chemicals, organized here on April 4, 1904, with a capital stock of $250,000, owned by G. Seigle Co. of Stuttgart, Germany.

A. W. Faber of Newark, N. J., manufacturers of lead pencils and stationery supplies, trade name of a business which has been in existence since 1761 with its principal office at Stein, Bavaria; owned by Alexander, Count of Faber-Castil, and his wife, residents of Stein, Bavaria.

George Benda of Boonton, N. J., manufacturers of bronze powder, a branch of the concern of the same name in Fuerth, Bavaria, established in 1824; business here conducted by Adolph Neubauer on behalf of himself and partner, Eugene Kirschbaum, now in Germany. When the war started, Neubauer also went to Germany and since 1915 no communication has been had with either of them by their local agents.

The advisory committee of the alien property custodian's office is now also considering the sale, it was announced, of the enemy interest of 50 per cent in the H. Koppers Co. of Pittsburgh, a $15,000,000 concern, one-fifth of the stock is owned by Heinrich Kopper, now living in Essen, Germany.

MAY FORCE FIGHT TO DECISION NOW

Foch Believed to Be Challenging Enemy to Fight It Out At Once or to Withdraw

DECISIVE MOMENT HERE

Germans Must Risk All on Pitched Battle or Withdraw to Old Line of Last March

Washington, D. C., August 9.—The startling rapidity of the British-French advance in Picardy coupled with new successes in Flanders and on the Vesle, produced an impression among some officers here tonight that one of the decisive moments of the war, perhaps the beginning of the final battle was rapidly approaching.

On the basis of such reports as were available, the German high command seems to stand face to face with a vital decision. Either his reserves must be rushed in and a pitched battle risked or virtually all he has gained at staggering cost in his greatest offensive of the war must be abandoned and a general withdrawal toward his old line of last March began without delay. While no American troops are known to be involved in the Picardy thrust, the capture of Fismette, the suburb across the river from Fismes, on the Vesle apparently is a part of the great general scheme of attack. Coupled with developments in Picardy and Flanders, it indicates to many officers that Marshal Foch is definitely challenging the enemy to fight it out now or withdraw.

The French and British have gone ahead with such rapidity in Picardy that the German retreat must have reached the proportion of a rout in places at least. The extent of enemy losses in prisoners, guns and war material bear out this view. The whole bottom of the great Picardy salient has flattened out in today's battle and the enemy position at Montdidier and north of that place the line of the Oise appears already to have been turned.

If he is forced to withdraw in haste from this point, where one of his strokes at Paris was directed, the last menace to the French capital will have been removed. Officers here believe such a withdrawal must be started without delay if the German forces on the Montdidier-Oise front are to be brought off without being crushed.

The sudden stroke on the Lys line in Flanders, which General Haig coupled with the Picardy drive today, appears to make it clear that the enemy is rushing support from the north to block the hole in this line torn by the British-French thrust. The Flanders front was found to be lightly held and good results were obtained in the sudden onslaught there.

This was of peculiar interest to members of the British military mission here, who have maintained that the armies of the Bavarian Crown Prince were being gathered opposite the Flanders front in preparation for a new effort there to reach the channel ports. The failure of the German drive on both sides of Rheims and the crushing defeat of the armies of the German Crown Prince which followed with his ejection in two weeks' fighting from the whole Marne salient, drew heavily on the reserves in the north. It is regarded as certain now, however, that the mass of Prince Rupprecht's reserves must be rushed to the Picardy salient, if the Flanders bulge is surrendered as a result.

CALL 130,207 REGISTRANTS

New York State Asked to Supply 6,100 White Men for Camp Gordon.

Washington, D. C., August 8.—Calls for 130,207 draft registrants qualified for general military service to join the colors before the end of August, were issued tonight by the Provost Marshal General. 100,000 white registrants from 40 states are ordered entrained between August 26 and 30. Twenty-one states and the District of Columbia are directed to furnish 30,207 negro registrants to entrain August 22 to 24.

These orders bring the number of men called out in August to about 200,000, the number contemplated in the present military program. Included in the call for white registrants are: New York 8,400, to Camp Gordon.

LOOKS TWENTY YEARS YOUNGER

Paris, France, August 9.—(Havas Agency.) — Those who have met Marshal Foch in the last few days are unanimous in declaring that he is in great humor, according to La Liberte. Premier Clemenceau, who dined with the Marshal yesterday, said he found him radiant and looking 20 years younger than when he last saw him.

FONCK, FRENCH ACE, NERVELESS

Lacks Even Usual Superstition About Airplanes.

GIVES HIS TO BEGINNERS

Unlike Guynemer, He Seldom Works, and Then Only When He Feels Fit—Score Now 60 Enemy Planes and All Without Scratch to Himself or Machine—Knows More About German Aviation Than Any Man of Allies.

Rene Fonck, the young ace of aces who recently won his forty-ninth officially recorded victory, may best be described as the man with perfect nerve, but no trace of nerves. Those who have had the opportunity to study him closely believe this superb poise is the secret of his success.

To show how free he is from foibles: Most famous aviators become attached to a favorite machine. When they have won a few victories in it they regard it with affection, even with superstition; it is lucky.

By contrast, Fonck has a habit of giving his machine to any youngster who has just won his pilot's commission and who has caught the great ace's fancy.

"Try this one, lad," he will say. "It seems to be all right," and thus passes title to a plane in which he has downed two or three Germans.

Then he takes the next machine sent to the camp from the factory.

Built Like a Boxer.

Fonck is of medium height and weight and has the walk and carriage of a skillful boxer. Men of scientific bent say his reflexes are perfect—incredibly swift and accurate. Besides this he has extraordinary vision. It has happened more than once when he has led a squadron that he has signaled to the other pilots the approach of a German plane, its exact location, the angle from which it should be attacked and its speed, all this before any of the others had seen it at all.

It need hardly be added that he is a remarkably accurate shot, another proof of his superb vision and perfect nerve control.

Like all the great fliers, he is a fanatic on the subject. When he talks it is of nothing but motors, new models of planes, aerial tactics and machine guns. But more often he sits through dinner with his friends without uttering a syllable.

Speaking of tactics, he has none, or at least no set method. He improvises as he goes along. Like the other pupils of that great instructor of fliers, Commandant Brocard, he is full of ingenious surprises. Incidentally, Brocard believed in him from the first. A year ago Georges Prade, a journalist of note, was talking to the master, expressing his fears for the future of the combat squadrons with Dorme, Navarre, Rochefort, Lenoir gone, and Guynemer and Nungesser fighting on by sheer will power and determination despite wounds which would have crippled the ordinary man. Brocard replied simply:

Had a Card Up His Sleeve.

"But we have Fonck. Do you know Fonck? He is unique."

Fonck was all but unknown.

But he could not remain long in obscurity—not a young man who kept putting down plane after plane (his score now is over sixty, eleven having fallen out of sight of official observers) and always without a scratch to himself or his machine. For Fonck never has been wounded. Many of his victories were won before the German adversary had a chance to fire a shot. Incidentally he is said to know more about German aviation than any other man among the allies.

Brocard taught him to fly anything and everything, including the first artillery observation machine with two motors. Fonck himself says he liked every machine he ever tried except the one he attempted to make out of his mother's buffet when he was ten years old. He spoiled the buffet, he says, and the results were painfully unsatisfactory.

Finally, he is modest; he keeps saying he is lazy, and very likely he really means it, because he keeps comparing himself to Guynemer. Guynemer was always in the air; he was untiring, at work hour after hour. Fonck by comparison flies seldom. He never goes up unless he feels just like it. He cannot conquer this reluctance to systematic daily work, he says. Which seems to show that, after all, he is human and has a failing.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The New York Markets.

New York, August 9.—Gratifying war news and prospects of an early and amicable adjustment of the dispute between the railroads and the federal authorities gave a distinct upward impetus to the stock market today, the hardening process extended to bonds.

Dealings were very moderate in the aggregate, but encompassed more than the usual variety of issues. Active rails, including standard shares, scored extreme gains of 1 to 2 points that range also applying to industrials and specialties.

U. S. Steel pointed the way throughout. It made an extreme advance of 1¾ points to 111¾, its highest price in several weeks and retained all but a small fraction.

Baldwin locomotive was next in favor, its steady accumulation at a gross advance of 2¾ accompanying the familiar report of prospective dividend action.

Exchange was firmer all around, reflecting the more confident feeling regarding the foreign situation.

Straightening Wire.

Stray pieces of copper wire have many uses, but it often is necessary to straighten out wire that has already been used. See that there are no sharp bends or kinks in the wire and straighten out by hand any such that are found. Fasten an end of the wire to some firm anchorage; grip it in the vise if need be. Loop the other end of the wire around a hammer handle or similar instrument and then pull out the length of the wire. Repeat the operation as often as necessary. If the wire is of soft copper it will stretch a little, which improves it.

RAINCOATS REJECTED AFTER RE-INSPECTION

More Than 28,000 of Poor Material and Workmanship Found in Federal Stores, Brooklyn

New York, August 9.—More than 28,000 army raincoats, similar in poor material and workmanship to large numbers of supposedly waterproof garments delivered to American soldiers overseas, have been found defective by inspectors who reported tonight progress of an examination of government stores at Brooklyn warehouses.

Federal officials announced that 55,000 raincoats withheld from shipments when General Pershing forwarded from France complained of leaky storm garments issued to thousands of his troops, already have been re-inspected. Of these more than 51 per cent were rejected, it was stated.

Details of the re-inspection, which involves thus far, 17 manufacturers, were made public by authority of the army quartermaster and Assistant United States Attorney Houston Thompson, who have co-operated in an investigation of alleged graft in raincoat production.

The inquiry already has resulted in the indictment of more than eight score of individuals and corporations, among them Captain Aubrey Vaughn of the quartermaster's department.

Of the 17 manufacturers whose recent delivery of raincoats have been re-inspected to date, only sixe were credited with greater percentage of accepted than rejected garments. The federal officials stated:

"More than 50 percent of the goods submitted by the following concerns were rejected. C. Kenyon company, Rubber Garment Specialty company, Harris Raincoat company, Sydeman Rubber company, H. Goldman company, Automobile Rubber company, Plottel Raincoat company, Hanauer and Rosenthal (three of every four of whose products were found defective), S. Levinsky and Sons, and Newark Rubber company.

Most of the garments rejected, according to the inspectors were found to leak at the seams. For passing coats with this defect a number of factory employes are under indictment for conspiracy to defraud the government, while others facing federal prosecution are manufactures alleged to have delivered faulty goods or to have paid commissions to army officers who, it is charged, assisted them in obtaining contracts

BRITISH TONNAGE REDUCED.

London, England, Aug. 8.—The British mercantile tonnage at the outbreak of the war amounted to 18,500,000 tons, gross, and the figure at the present time is 15,000,000 gross, the parliamentary secretary to the ministry of shipping, announced in the house of commons today.

A Three Months' subscription to The Star for $1.00.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

On September 1, 1918, the subscription price of the Daily Star will be advanced to $5 per year; single months, 50 cents; one week, 12 cents. These rates cover all subscriptions either by carrier or by mail.

This advance in subscription price has become imperative due to the advance in cost of producing the paper, but more especially because of the vastly larger expenditures for print paper, postage and labor.

In order that all subscribers may have equal opportunity payments on subscriptions at the old rate of $4 per year will be accepted during the month of August only. In no event will a payment extending a subscription beyond Jan. 1, 1919, be accepted. All who wish may pay to the last named date at the $4 rate.

It is hoped that all patrons will appreciate the fact that this action has been deferred until it has become imperative. With the co-operation of all present patrons it is believed that the publication of a daily newspaper of creditable dimensions can be continued—without which the city would be unfortunate indeed.

AMERICAN SCHOONER SUNK

By German Submarine 110 Miles Off Cape Hatteras on Monday Last—Its Crew Lands.

Newport News, Va., August 9. — The American schooner, Stanley L. Seaman, bound from Newport News to a foreign port, was sunk last Monday 110 miles east of Cape Hatteras by a German submarine. Captain W. C. McAloney and crew of eight men arrived today at this port, having been picked up by a British vessel. The Seaman, Capt. McAloney said, was fired on without warning while becalmed about noon Monday. The crew took to their small boats, but were later permitted to return for provisions, and then put off in a gasoline launch. The members of the submarine crew looted the ship before sinking it with a bomb. Captain McAloney and his crew spent three days in the launch in the Gulf Stream before they were picked up.

The submarine was described by Capt. McAloney as the U-132, 350 feet long, and mounting four guns, two 6-inch fore and aft the conning tower, with a small gun on either side. The captain said the Germans spoke English well and were courteous. The Seaman was owned by Crowler & Thurlow of Boston, Mass.

MUST GET ON WAR BASIS.

Washington, D. C., August 9—Manufacturers of passenger automobiles today were advised by the War Industry board to get their plants on a 100 per cent war work basis before January 1, 1919. In a letter addressed to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, responding to its proposal for a voluntary 50 per cent curtailment of passenger car production, the board says the manufacturers can be sure of continuing their industry and preserving their organization only by converting to war orders.

BOXING CARNIVAL OFF.

Chicago, Ill., August 9. — The possibility of a Willard-Dempsey bout boxing match vanished tonight when it was announced that the boxing carnival at Fort Sheridan, for the benefit of the Salvation Army Overseas fund, had been called off as the result of the committee in charge failing to confer with the Fort Sheridan officials, who in turn prohibited the bout.

A number of prominent boxers, who were to have taken part in the carnival, arrived in Chicago tonight, among them Jesse Willard, Ted Lewis and Johnny Killbane.

GAIN JUNCTION POINT?

London, England, August 9. — An unconfirmed report reaching London says the British troops are now in Rosieres, the junction point of the north and south railway lines midway between Montdidier and Albert.

AMERICANS TAKE FISMETTE.

Paris, France, August 9—(Havas Agency)—American troops have captured the village of Fismette, on the north bank of the Vesle river, a short distance northwest of Fismes. With the village they took 100 prisoners.

TRIANGLE Presents "WHO KILLED WALTON?"

Walton, an artist, is asked to illustrate a novel by Marian Emlen. He refuses. Meeting her, he sees an opportunity for prey, much to the wrath of pretty Elsa Armytage, his former sweetheart. Walton invites Marian Emlen to dinner at the notorious Schloss restaurant, in the rear of which his studio is located. Miss Armytage watches the two. Walton makes advances to Marian who abruptly leaves him. A call-boy stops her at the door and advises her that she is wanted at the phone.

The phone message is from her fiance Booth, who rebukes her for being at the Schloss. Booth is also a reformer. His tirade unnerves her. She faints. In the meantime Walton has gone to his studio, followed by Elsa. He quarrels with her and falls dead in his chair. With the aid of a friend's waiter Elsa takes the unconscious Marian Emlen to the artist's studio. There she leaves Marian beside Walton's body. When Marian awakens she discovers Walton's body beside her and flees in terror from the studio. The police trail Marian. The reformer Booth, rejects her as a slayer. Hamilton, her politician friend, comes to her aid obtains a confession from Elsa and vindicates Marian who gives her love to him.

Synopsis of Preceding Episodes.

JEAN BENTON, owner of a great nickel and cobalt mine in Montana, must, according to her father's will marry within a year either Jacob Lawless or Walter Hyde, rascally cousins. The two men bitter enemies are striving by any means to force her into a marriage to get the millions.

Jean is lured to a cabin by Lawless who proposes marriage but is scorned and the girl escapes only by hurling a lamp at the outlaw who is nearly burned to death. Swearing vengeance, Lawless and his henchmen capture Jean again, also Bob Hardy, soldier of fortune, who discovers her mine and who loves her and Sergt. Bill, of the Northwest Mounted Police and Iron Star. They are locked in a stockade where a big fight occurs during which Jean escapes again on horseback in the darkness.

Iron Star breaks through the roof and leaps to the top of the stockade. A score of guards fire at him and he topples to the ground on the further side.

Truth Unhealthful in Germany.

Von Kuehlmann, the Kaiser's secretary of state, made a speech in which he declared that Germany could not win the war with arms. He told the truth; but his health suddenly failed and he resigned. Von Holtzendorff, the Kaiser's chief of the admiralty, confessed that the U-boats were not impeding the American transports, and gave his explanation why. He also told the truth, his health also suddenly failed and he also resigned. Truth-telling seems to be as unhealthful as it is uncommon in Germany. — [Louisville Courier-Journal.

Change N-O-W to W-O-N

Did you ever notice the similarity of the word "NOW" to "WON"? Separate the letters in the word "now," and you have "n-o-w." Spell it backwards and you have "w-o-n."

Isn't it plain that to be able to say I "won," I must do a thing now, and that the elements used for attaining the "won" column are largely built around the word "now"? Action or inaction now is the determining factor. The word "won" will never be written unless someone actually performs an act "now."

More Than Ever, The Business Man's Car

CHANGING conditions have made the motor car more than ever imperatively necessary to the man of business and have brought into greater prominence the value of the GRANT SIX as a car of maximum utility.

The business man is impressed with the fact that while the GRANT SIX is a car of dignified size, fine appearance and marked riding comfort, it is very reasonably priced in comparison with other cars that offer as much, and its economy of fuel, oil and tires makes the GRANT SIX an inexpensive car to keep in service.

If, as many are now doing, you are changing from a much larger and more expensive car, you will find that in buying a GRANT SIX you are not sacrificing anything real in motor car service. If you are used to any smaller or cheaper car, the superior comfort and dependability of the GRANT SIX will make you wish you had made the change long before you did.

While we have been fortunate in getting cars up to now, we urge you to place your order at once if you want to make sure of your GRANT SIX.

INDIVIDUAL SERVICE.

The Duty of the Individual.

In these days when practically every train sees some man or group of men departing for military camps where they will prepare for service over seas, the duty of the individual comes home with new force to every one of us. It is not the question of whether or not he is to be called to service abroad, or even to the multitudinous camps and workshops and navy yards and munitions factories where the United States is forging such an engine of might as shall crush the Prussian autocracy forever. It applies equally to those who have not been called and probably will not be called to active service. It touches every individual in the country, and is as applicable to him who labors, or should labor in his own aloof and safely guarded country as to him who may be called to service over seas. It is the question of conscience and of individual responsibility.

Not Merely Earning Livelihood.

In ordinary times there is no reason why a man should not put financial profit among the foremost considerations in determining choice or place of employment. If a job of a different nature appeals to him, or one which holds out promise of greater pecuniary benefit, then he is at liberty morally, as he always is legally, to seek that place or that employment. It is one of the privileges which in a free country is insured to the individual in times of peace, and no one may question it.

In days of stress like these, however, the individual owes it to the country at large, and most of all to his home town to consider his community obligation. This of course does not apply to those who are in actual army service or in the needed work of munition plants and the like, but it does apply to many others; and when thinking of themselves, they should think also of the community of which they are members, of the obligation which by long residence they have assumed and of the fact that in days like the present the individual is submerged in the body politic.

One's Duty at Home.

Is it too much, therefore, to suggest that there is something to be considered beyond the merely temporary advantage of higher wages elsewhere when one, yielding somewhat to such a lure, thinks of giving up his vocation, severing his home business connection and going to another town? At the best many of the positions offered are temporary, and when the war ends or even before the work itself may cease or those now in service will return to the positions kept open for them. There are the expense or removal, the added cost of living in larger communities and the doubtful tenure of employment—important things and worth thinking about; but greater than any or all of them is the consideration of duty at home, and the moral obligation, in order that our own factories may not close for lack of help—and perhaps close permanently—to stay on the job.

In order that no one may misunderstand, it may be repeated that this does not apply to those entering upon occupations vital to carrying on of the war. These must first be considered, and there is no criticism of those who undertake them. But there is work to do in one's home town, industries to be kept alive, and in general the town to be kept running as nearly on the old footing as possible. To do this requires the assistance of every person able to work. To go away to other places merely on account of temporary better wages, when one's home employer is doing all that he can to meet war conditions and paying all that he can to his employes, is as little commendable as the profiteering by vast industries against which the government sets its courts in motion.

A General Obligation.

There is one thing more which needs attention, and that is the duty of every citizen to do all he is able in these days of trial. He may not be subject to conscription, he may not be between the ages to which the anti-loafing regulations apply. But he may be able-bodied and fit to do a fair day's work. If so, he comes within a class to which at least the moral obligation applies, and this without consideration of his financial ability, and whether he is able to hire others to work for him. It is not doing one's bit to "work" a garden, if somebody else does the real work, nor to hire a chauffeur if able to run the car himself. The purpose of everybody working—the patriotic purpose which all should have in mind—is to release by one's own efforts a definite amount of labor which elsewhere can be profitably employed. And whoever of good health fails to do this falls short of what his country has a right to expect of him.

Why the Spaniards?

The announcement is made from Madrid that a Spanish military commission is to visit the American front in France. What occasion is there for such a visit? Can not the Spanish military attaches in Paris give their government all the information about the military situation which it is desirable for a neutral war ministry to know.—[New York Tribune.

AN INSPIRING CONFERENCE

DELEGATES FROM ALL OTSEGO IN ATTENDANCE.

Thrilling Address by Distinguished Member of Russian Red Cross — Other Speakers Present Needs and Work of Great Association.

The conference of Red Cross workers which was held yesterday at the First Presbyterian church drew to Oneonta the largest attendance which ever was present at a meeting of like nature in Otsego county. The Oneonta chapter and its branches, and the Morris, Cooperstown and Richfield Springs chapters and their branches were well represented, there being more than 200 visitors from towns outside of Oneonta at the morning session and many more in the afternoon, as well as hundreds of Red Cross members from Oneonta itself.

The morning session of the conference began at 10 o'clock. Brief remarks were made, welcoming the visitors and speakers by Mrs. George B. Baird. Mrs. DePeyster Townsend of Cooperstown also spoke briefly and Mrs. Kellogg in a few words presented the appeal of the army training school for nurses.

The principal speaker of the morning was Carleton Stevenson of New York city, representing the class organization of the Atlantic division, who presented the need of organization and urged that the general plan of the national and divisional headquarters be followed, with eight standing committees. His remarks clearly set forth the plan of organization of the Red Cross as a whole and in the separate units.

Luncheon was served in the church parlors and Sunday school rooms, where 120 visitors were entertained, delicious refreshments being furnished by the canteen committee, assisted by the local Home Economics clubs.

At the afternoon session Miss Jane Hoey gave a talk on Home Service, bringing to the fore various features of this branch of the work which before had not been clearly elucidated; and Mrs. Ralph K. Jones briefly discussed "Work Rooms, Salvage and Junior Activities."

Voice and Message from the Orient.

Following this interesting and helpful talk, Lady Anne Azgapotian, a distinguished worker in the Russian Red Cross, was introduced and delivered an address which from first word to last interested and thrilled the large audience. How deep that interest was, was shown by the breathless atention, the stillness and the occasional applause which could not be restrained, but which quickly ceased as if there were fear of losing a word of her remarkable story.

Beginning with her departure at the beginning of the war in 1914 for the Russian Red Cross camps, she gave without slightest attempt at oratory or fine phrasing, a narrative of her life during the stirring years of Russia's participation in the war, of the work of the Red Cross in Armenia and in Persia and of the barbarities which on the Armenians during those terrible days were indicted by the Turks. The sufferings of the soldiers brought in many instances to the camps to die, she told with a directness and simple pathos which gripped her audience. In like manner, speaking, to prarphrase the greatest of English dramatists, "right on, telling the things which she herself did know," she recounted the later atrocities, the children crucified, the old men and women hacked and mutilated, and other incidents of a war in which it was her part to be both participant and eye-witness. There was not one present who did not draw from her words a deeper sense of individual responsibility.

In closing the speaker told of her departure from Persia in the early days of the present Bolshevik regime, of the hardships encountered on the way out, of the privations, the lack of food, and the days and nights of peril before she reached again a free country. Her child of nineteen months, born in the midst of these days of peril and anxiety, and dear to her as any child can be to any mother, she has for the season denied to herself in order that she may be free to visit the American Red Cross and to inspire its chapters to still greater efforts. This in a story told simply and with no thought of self, she unquestionable is doing; and there is no doubt that those who are working at home under the American flag and in peace and safety will be nerved to greater efforts by this convincing narrative of Red Cross work in the Orient.

At the close of her remarks delegates were requested to meet in conference with Miss Hoey and Mrs. Jones, and the rest of the afternoon was spent in more informal discussion of the features of the work previously set forth in the afternoon addresses. The conference was unquestionably a profitable one to all in attendance.

Lady Anne Azgapotian and Miss Hoey were guests last evening of Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Rowe. They will return to New York today. Mrs. Jones was a guest of Mrs. P. I. Dugbee.

Age limits 21 to 35 years. Apply at any recruiting station in Oneonta or elsewhere.

The German Thought.

The German-language newspaper is possibly not so much to be feared as the English-language newspaper that thinks in German.—[Washington Star.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

It's Up to the Kaiser.

In a fair test of strength the great German army of the Marne yields daily. There will be a digging in process later for another offensive, but what chance has the enemy of doing better or even as well next time? Germany's man power is dwindling while that of the Allies is growing. There can be but one end. As we have said previously, Germany's defeat will be as disastrous as she chooses to make it. It's up to the Kaiser and his bunch. — [Berkshire Eagle.

Draft Age in America.

The extension of the draft ages in both directions will have a special significance to Germany, since it will mean that America will utilize her man power in the effort to force a world peace consistent with our principles. Prompt action by congress on this account is desirable, and it may be added that the moment is psychologically favorable for impressing the German people with America's determination to see the business through. —[Springfield Republican.

New Use for German Music.

He told too the story of the French officer, an operatic singer before joining the colors, sitting down to a piano found in a captured trench and trying the Wagnerian role which had been his last study. A few Germans in hiding, thinking the trench must have fallen once more into their hands, came out only to fall into the arms of the officer and his men.—[Christian Science Monitor.

In a Dry State Down South.

"Why do you keep that patch of mint going since the county went dry? You can't make juleps now."

"Oh, I know. That mint patch is back of the icehouse, both in full view of the roadside."

"Well?"

"And many of the motor tourists who come along have the other ingredients."—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Ultimate in Oratory.

We were compelled to listen during the warmest of the warm days last week to the most innocuous speech we ever have heard. The speaker not only said nothing, but qualified that. —[Emporia Gazette.

The Conservation of Energy.

The energy expended in taking off and putting on motor tires in the hot, dusty roads these days would shock a lot of wheat.—[Kansas City Star.

Insidious Pro-Germanism.

When Mr. Hoover advocated the increase of home gardens to help win the war he didn't take account of the pro-German activities of the neighbors' hens.—[Keokuk Gate City.

LOCAL MENTION.

—Members are reminded of the usual Saturday afternoon tea at the Country club today.

—There will be one service Sundays only at St. James' church at 10:30 a. m., until further announcement.

—Intelligence of the wounding of a Delaware county boy at the front in France is given in the North Franklin news letter in this issue.

—Miss Bessie Talcott of Sidney underwent an operation at the Home hospital Friday afternoon. Dr. Brinkman performed the operation, assisted by Dr. Getman. The patient is resting comfortably.

—The members of Autumn lodge held a very pleasant social last evening at the home of Mrs. J. N. Stone, 398 Main street. Delicious refreshments were served and the evening was one of genuine delight to all present.

—Miss Frances Edwards entertained a small company of friends at a dancing party at the Country club last evening in honor of her guest, Miss Hope Iseman of Middletown. Mrs. Baird was chaperone and the young folks enjoyed the occasion much.

—If the skies are clear this and tomorrow evenings, it will be a good time to look out for the August meteors, which are sometimes among the most beautiful of stellar phenomena. The meteor swarm's orbit is due to cut the orbit of the earth either on the 10th or the 11th of the month.

—A good selection of war books and new novels has been received at the Public library, which will be ready for distribution today, notwithstanding the fact that they arrived too late to list. If you wish something interesting and entertaining to read call at the library and select one of the new books.

—Much interest was shown yesterday in the large Liberty war map just placed in the window of the Boston Kandy Kitchen. Large crowds were in front of the window until late in the evening tracing with the aid of the pins, the drive of the British and French into the German lines in the Picardy salient, and the attack of the Americans and French, which practically eliminated the Marne salient.

EXPECTS 2,400 TO REGISTER.

New Measure Including All Between 18 and 45 Expected to Pass.

Communications received by the Local Exemption board indicate that Provost Marshal Crowder has no doubt of the new measure providing for the registration for war purposes of all male citizens from 18 to 45 inclusive being enacted by congress at an early date and he is already forwarding instructions relative to the enrollment of these registrants. The board is expected to be in readiness to commence the work early in September. It will have charge of the work but is expected that the work will be done by the election boards of the various election districts which will meet for primary day on September 3. It has been suggested that the enrollment of registrants be fixed for September 5, but this date is only a tentative one. It is thought that the number in this district of Otsego county will be about 2,400, which will make the total number of registrants in the district including those of the 1918 class from which future calls must be met until the new registrants are available about 4,500, the board now having 2,046 names.

Open-Air Service.

Be sure to attend the open-air service of the West End Baptist church Sunday evening at 7:30, held on the lawn of H. E. Miller, 7 Fonda avenue. This meeting will be under the auspicies of the Christian Endeavor society. Collier's orchestra will furnish special music.

RAILROADS TO MERGE

U. & D. COMPANY TO ABANDON ITS TERMINAL IN THIS CITY.

Expected That Its Trains, Freight, Passengers, Locomotives and Business Will Be Handled by D. & H. Company in the Latter's Stations, Round House and Yards.

While official confirmation cannot be obtained, there is little doubt that within a very short time the Ulster and Delaware railroad will unite with the D. & H. company in a union terminal in this city at the plant of the latter company, and that practically the entire equipment on Railroad avenue will be evacuated, the freight as well as the passenger business of the U. & D. company being transferred to the stations of the D. & H. company in the business section. If the reports are true, the round house and yards of the U. & D. will be little used, the locomotives of that company going to the D. & H. round house for care and repairs and the trains for the U. & D. road being made up in the D. & H. yards.

Nothing further could be secured from official sources other than a confirmation that Supt. J. K. McNeilhe of the Susquehanna division and Supt. R. O'Sullivan of the U. & D. road recently had a conference at which tentative plans looking to adopting the suggestion of the government director that arrangements be made for a joint or union terminal here, were suggested. It is believed that the plans will be perfected promptly and that before the month is gone U. & D. trains will be entering and leaving from the D. & H. station.

It is plain to the merest novice that the U. & D. company cannot maintain separate passenger and freight station forces with a round house manned by men night and day with the coterie of yard employes with the limited amount of business which the company does here as cheaply as the business could be handled for them by the D. & H. with all its facilities here. Then, too, the U. & D. company will gain business by having its trains start from and reach, on entering, the very heart of the city. Also, the convenience of the traveling public will be be greatly enhanced, the connections at a union station avoiding much confusion as well as facilitating train connections.

The rumor is current that the change is to become effective on August 15, but the time seems too short in which to perfect all the arrangements, even though the tentative agreement understood to have been reached by the two superintendents be approved at once by the general officers of both companies.

The change will be heartily welcomed by the business firms of the city, especially those having either freight or express for points along the U. & D. road.

LAWN FETE MONDAY EVENING.

Daughters of Isabelle to Entertain at Residence of W. I. LaReau.

Court Regina, Daughters of Isabella, have perfected arrangements for a lawn fete to be held Monday, August 12, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. LaReau, the proceeds to be given to the K. of C. war funds. There will be a musicale beginning at 7:30 sharp, after which all may enjoy the evening, as entertainment for the old and young will be provided. Delicious home-made ice cream will be served. The committee in charge is working to make the evening a success and solicits the patronage of the public. A very pretty feature will be a Grecian dance by eighteen misses, children of members of the court and under the direction of Miss Anna LaReau, a student of Kenwood. While the program is not fully arranged it is expected that the principal feature will be an act by the famous "Youngs," who need no introduction to Oneonta as they are professionals of real merit and Court Regina is particularly favored in having them. The program will appear in Monday's Star, and it is hoped that all members of St. Mary's parish and their friends will attend this affair which promises everyone a pleasant evening. Seats will be provided and the small admission of 10 cents charged.

Fox Memorial Hospital.

The Fox Training school offers a two years and three months' course to young women desiring to become nurses.

The fall term begins October 1, and all students wishing to be enrolled at that time should make application at once. A large class is desired, as the hospital is being enlarged, also, in order that the graduate nurses now employed may be released for overseas duty.

Applicants must be between 18 and 30 years of age and in good physical condition. High school graduates are preferred, but young women who have had one or two years of High school work will be accepted if they qualify in other ways.

The Fox Training school is registered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York, and graduates of the school are eligible to become enrolled in the Army Nurse corps or the Red Cross Nursing service, and for membership in any of the state or national nurses' organizations.

All inquiries should be addressed to the Principal of the Training School, Fox Memorial hospital, Oneonta. advt 1t

BANK ROBBERS ARE FOILED

Burglars Fail to Blow Open Safe of Cherry Valley Bank — Are Frightened Off — No Clue to Criminals.

Cherry Valley, August 9. — An unsuccessful attempt was made early this morning to rob the National bank here, the robbers succeeding in gaining entrance to the building and shattering the door of the outer vault with nitro-glycerine.

Shortly after midnight Mrs. George Fowler was awakened by the sound of an explosion and arose to investigate. She discovered two men in front of the bank, who were evidently on guard, and at once notified A. S. Pearsons, cashier of the bank, and Deputy Sheriff Homer Galt, who in turn notified others, and soon several citizens appeared on the streets. Their presence must have soon been learned by the robbers, as they made a hasty exit and succeeded in making good their escape.

Investigations about the bank disclosed that entrance had been gained by prying open a window. The combination to the vault door had been broken and explosives worked into the opening and set off with an electric battery. The charge failed to release the bolts and the locks broke in such a manner that the door was set fast. It is doubtful, had they worked unmolested, that they could have succeeded in reaching the deposit safe by morning. Local mechanics have failed during the day in releasing the bolts and an expert has been summoned.

Business at the bank was resumed at the usual hour this morning, sufficient funds having been received from the banks at Cobleskill to meet requirements until the safe can be opened.

The work has the earmarks of professional yeggmen. Several strangers were seen about the village during the evening, but as many tourists stop here their appearance attracted no special attention. There is a similarity of the present job to that of several weeks ago when the safe in the post office was blown open and robbers succeeded in making a getaway with several hundred dollars in stamps. It will be remembered that it was the same Mrs. Fowler who gave the alarm at that time.

The present attempt to gain entrance to the deposit safe of the bank recalls an attempt to rob the same bank some 23 years ago. At that time the vault door was broken and the thieves were at work on the safe when they were scared away. At that time no clue to the guilty ones could be obtained. Some years later, at the trial of "Max" Shinburn, a noted criminal and bank burglar of national reputation, who was convicted of robbing a bank in Vermont, he confessed that he was one of the gang that made the attempt on the Cherry Valley bank, as well as in Cobleskill and Middleburg.

SOUSA AT JOHNSON CITY.

At Johnson Field Sunday Afternoon and Ideal Park Sunday Evening.

One of the biggest musical treats ever given in Broome county will take place tomorrow, Sunday, when Lieutenant John Philip Sousa and his famous band of 75 pieces will give two concerts in Johnson City, one at 2:30 o'clock at Johnson Field and the second at Ideal Park at 7:30 p. m. The coming of this famous band is under the auspices of the recreation department of the Endicott Johnson company. While the concerts are entirely free and the public in The Star's territory is invited to attend, those in attendance are invited to invest 25 cents in a Thrift Stamp as a patriotic manifestation of approval.

With Sousa and his celebrated musicians are two of the country's noted soloists, Miss Ruby Helder, vocalist, and Miss Marjorie Moody, soprano. In addition to these two noted singers, the programs call for the appearance of Frank Simon in cornet solos. Mr. Simon is one of the world's best and is now said to surpass Herbert L. Clarke, who appeared with Sousa last year.

Like Others, I Worry.

Most of our boys will come home. Munition factories and large war activities will largely cease, people will be out of jobs and wages will come down. I try to make people think. Government records show that 80 out of every 100 people become dependent upon children, friends or charity. While wages are high I am giving all of them a chance to make small monthly amounts of $1 or more accumulate to millions of dollars, at six per cent compound interest. I am giving them a chance to get homes of their own, on small easy payments and where $700 of principal will pay $1000 toward a home. I have done this to the amount of several million dollars. I worry because there are so many people in Oneonta who don't think or care. But why should I worry? I am giving all of them an equal chance. I am the safe Oneonta Building and Loan association, and those who do use me, appreciate me. Watch me grow and do good. advt 1t

ADVERTISING A Necessity

WHEN goods are scarce and prices high, people are more appreciative than ever of the right kind of advertising.

They are seeking information. They want to know how to buy to the best advantage.

They want to know how to fill their needs and avoid waste. They welcome news of desirable substitutes for the things the country needs to conserve.

They read the newspapers carefully.

The merchant or manufacturer who does not advertise is not only missing the purely selfish opportunity, but he is failing in the service he owes to his customers.

DEATH OF MRS CARRIE SHEARER

Widow of Late George B. Shearer, at Home of Son, C. L. Shearer.

Carrie W. Gartsey, widow of the late George B. Shearer, passed away yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at her home with her son, Carl L. Shearer, at 43 Dietz street, following an acute attack of Bright's disease, from which he had been suffering. She returned from a visit with her daughter in Newark, N. J., the previous day and on arrival at 10:25 o'clock gave unmistakable signs that her condition was serious. At 11 o'clock that night she passed into a state of coma, from which she never rallied, passing away yesterday morning as stated. Mrs. Shearer had been in a decline since the death of her husband three years ago, although it had been more decided for the past year. About a month since she went to Newark, N. J., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Aplanalp, and on the return trip Wednesday night on the boat was ill and hurried from the boat, evidently taking the train from Madison avenue, as her son, George B. Shearer jr., who was at the boat to meet her, failed to find her either at the landing or at the union station.

The funeral services will be held from the home of her son at 43 Dietz street on Monday at 2:30 o'clock. Her pastor, Rev. Dr. J. C. Russell of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot in Glenwood cemetery by the side of her late husband.

Born at Norwich Jan. 6, 1861, the daughter of the late Henry Gartsey and Mary Parmelee Gartsey, her father died in Andersonville prison two years later and her mother removed to Oaksville, where and at Fly Creek she resided during her early life. She attended Hartwick Seminary for a brief time, going later to a private school for young ladies at New Hartford, where she remained for four years. She was united in marriage at Laurens on Oct. 29, 1879, to the late George B. Shearer. After three years, during which they resided in Cherry Valley and Albany, they came to Oneonta to reside and this city has since been her home with the exception of a short residence in New York city.

She united with the Presbyterian church while studying in New Hartford, and during her residence here she had been a faithful member of the First Presbyterian church. She was also a member of the Woman's club. Her home and her children were ever the objects of her earnest devotion and zealous care, and her tireless efforts for their welfare will ever be a choice memory for them, while among her circle of friends she was esteemed highly.

Surviving her are the following children: Harry P. Shearer of New York city; Mrs. E. E. Aplanalp of Newark, N. J.; and Carl L., Flora L., George B. jr., and Helen M. Shearer, all of this city; her mother, Mrs. Mary R. Steere, residing at 339 Main street, this city; also one brother, Carl E. Steere, also of this city. To all of them the sympathy of a wide circle of friends will be extended.

GEORGE W. LAPE DEAD.

Resident of East Worcester Passes Away at Hospital Here.

George W. Lape, a well known resident of East Worcester, died at the Wanna hospital in this city Friday morning at 11 o'clock, after an illness dating from March last and from a complication of ailments, aged 56 years. Mr. Lape came to the hospital only a few days since for treatment, but his case was hopeless and he failed rapidly until the end. The body was removed to his late home at East Worcester during the day, but no arrangements for the funeral had been made late yesterday.

He was born at Summit and his entire life has been passed there and at East Worcester, he having for the past eight years been engaged as clerk with his brother-in-law, L. A. Thurber, at the latter place. He leaves a wife, one son, Herbert, a lad of nine years, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary J. Marshall, Mrs. S. A. Baldwin and Mrs. L. A. Thurber, all of East Worcester. Mr. Lape was a man well respected in the community in which he lived.

Mrs. Julia Ford Bundy Weds.

Word has been received of the marriage at noon on Thursday, August 8, of Mrs. Julia Ford Bundy of Pasadena, Cal., to Rev. Dr. Gilbert Blue of the First Presbyterian church in that city. The bride is a daughter of the late D. W. Ford of Oneonta, and her former husband, the late Harlow E. Bundy, was formerly postmaster in this city, going afterwards to Binghamton, where he was for a long time at the head of the Binghamton Time Recording company. A few years ago the family moved to California, where Mr. Bundy died in the spring of 1916.

The bride, who has many friends in this city, is a sister of Mrs. James Stewart and of Edward E. Ford, both of Oneonta.

Henderson Family Reunion.

The seventh annual reunion of the Henderson family was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Harmon at 7 Myrtle avenue, this city, yesterday, with about 45 in attendance, including members from Harpersfield, North Kortright, East Meredith, Walton, Hartwick Seminary, Ithaca and Cooperstown. There was an abundance of good things to eat and the event passed very pleasantly for all.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Porter A. Wheat.

Treadwell, August 9.—Mrs. Porter A. Wheat, one of the best known and most respected residents of this place, died after a long illness at 1 p. m. today. She was 71 years of age and came to Treadwell from Masonville over forty years ago, since which time her home has been continuously in this vicinity. She was a very worthy woman, a member for many years of the Methodist Episcopal church and active in its work. She was also president for many years of the local branch of the W. C. T. U. She will be greatly missed in the home and community.

The funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. on Sunday at her late home. Burial will be in the Treadwell cemetery.

Mrs. Wheat is survived by her husband and by five children—Mrs. Leroy Evans of Franklin, Homer and Seymour Wheat, who reside at home, Mrs. John Whitney of Albany and Roscoe Wheat of Franklin. To the bereaved family the sympathy of all will be extended.

Elmer Eglington.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sigsbee, Mr. and Mrs. John Young and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hitchcock are in Albany today, to attend the funeral of Elmer Eglington, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Sigsbee, whose death occurred in Albany on Thursday. Mr. Eglington formerly resided here and was at one time employed on the D. & H. railroad here. Interment is also to be made in Albany.

CORK TOYS.

If you will save the cork from every empty bottle before it is thrown out or disposed of to the ragman, you will soon have enough shapes and sizes to provide an afternoon's fun of toymaking. If you do not want to wait until enough corks have accumulated by this means, you can get what you will need at a drug store.

In addition to corks, you must have some cardboard, some worsted, beads, toothpicks, burnt matches, pins and glue. For cutting the corks use a very sharp knife.

The horse (Fig. 1) has a body made of two tapered corks, with the small ends glued together. Use the pattern in Fig. 2 for the head, and glue this in a slot cut across the end of the body. The legs may be toothpicks or matches; glue them into holes in the cork body. The tail is made of several strands of worsted tied to a pin (Fig. 3), which is stuck into the body.

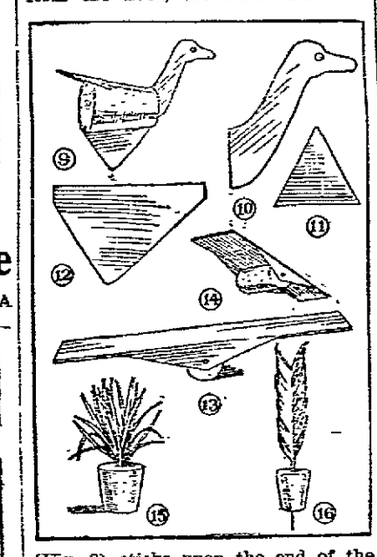
The funny little porcupine (Fig. 4) has a tapered cork body (Fig. 5), toothpick legs, a cardboard head (Fig. 6), and toothpick quills.

Because cork birds and animals are funny creatures at best, it is proper to devise varieties other than those found in zoos. Fig. 7 shows a peculiar specimen. Isn't he a dandy with his ornamental neck? Five glass beads strung upon a toothpick form the neck, the cardboard head



(Fig. 8) sticks upon the end of the toothpick neck, and the toothpick legs have beads glued upon their ends.

The duck (Fig. 9) is one of the many floating toys which can be made. Fig. 10 shows the head and neck. Fig. 11 the tail, and Fig 12 the keel fastened to the under side of the body to prevent upsetting. The keel should be of cardboard coated with paraffin.

Tapering corks make splendid pots for toy plants for a doll house (Fig. 15), and plants can be made of paper or pieces of artificial ferns.

If you have never made a cork javelin to toss at a target, you have missed lots of fun. Fig. 16 shows how to make one by inserting a needle in the bottom of a tapered cork, and a feather in the top.

Enough cork furniture can be devised to furnish a doll's house completely. Fig. 17 shows a bed. This has a cardboard mattress, cork feet, and a pillow of two tapering corks.

Submarines.

It is impossible to name the real inventor of the submarine. Underwater boats have been a matter of study for 300 years. John P. Holland, an American, living in New York and New Jersey, developed the submarine to its present form. He built his first boats some time in the seventies, and in 1890 constructed one that met the approval of the naval authorities.

AIR RAIDERS FEAR THE SEARCHLIGHT

USEFUL IN SPOTTING TANKS

Pick Up Hun Bombing Planes at a Distance and Keep Them Constantly In View—Equipped With Sound Detectors.

New York.—Last fall, when the Austrians were driving the Italian soldiers from their hard-won mountain fortresses, the defeated army had one weapon which it constantly used to harass and impede the foe. This was the electric searchlight, a newcomer on the field of battle.

Powerful lights were trained every night upon the advancing Austrians whenever they came to a river crossing or whenever they were obliged to halt for another reason. This hampered and irritated the enemy exceedingly. It was not only that serious danger attended any disclosure of their operations. They suffered also from nerves when the long feelers of light brushed over their faces and hands and revealed every detail of the work upon which they were engaged.

The use of searchlights by our own expeditionary forces is becoming an important branch of the engineering service. Not long ago congress voted an appropriation of $1,000,000 for searchlights of both the field type and the anti-aircraft type. The lights commonly used are 36-inch lights, having a candlepower of 1,000,000,000, and a maximum range of approximately 10,000 yards, or nearly six miles.

First Use in Warfare.

When searchlights were first introduced in warfare it was expected that they would be primarily serviceable in battlefield illumination. The scheme was to throw light upon the opposing battle line and show advancing companies of infantry the kind of ground over which they had to go. Another plan was to have rows of searchlights parallel with the trenches and sweep the terrain before them, lighting up the barbed-wire entanglements laid by the foe and exposing parties of enemy soldiers at work repairing them. However, neither of these uses turned out to be especially significant. The difficulty was that, as soon as the lights were in operation, they were easily picked off by the enemy's guns. In the same manner, they could not be placed along the line of trenches.

More recent experiments have demonstated that there is a real usefulness for field searchlights. They are now being employed to spot the enemy's tank advances. Instead of being hauled by horses, like the first field searchlights, the newer ones are mounted on motor trucks. They are flashed for only a minute or two at a time, and are instantly shifted to another vantage point. This affords them a greater measure of self-protection.

The antiaircraft searchlight is the most valuable type of light now used by our soldiers. It is our most effective defense against the low-flying night-bombing plane of the Germans. Antiaircraft guns have proved almost hopelessly inadequate in coping with night air raids, and if it were not for the long pointing fingers of the searchlight the foe would be able to effect some very deadly work in night attacks upon supply depots and ammunition dumps.

The method is to pick up a hostile bombing plane when it is about five miles away from its objective. For this purpose the searchlights are located at points likely to be attacked. They are sunk in holes in the ground and are heavily sandbagged. Both the light and the men working it are given considerable protection.

Fitted With Sound Receivers.

To detect the approach of airplanes the searchlight apparatus is furnished with sound receivers. Without these receivers the outfit is practically useless. The receiver can be swung around to catch the sound vibrations, and they are remarkably accurate in discovering the position of the plane. Usually it can be located within a few degrees. The light is not turned on at all until the airplane is practically located. Then it is suddenly flashed on the craft. Once a bombing plane is found it is hard for it to get away from the inexorable pencil of light. Bombing planes are not like battle planes; they must fly in comparatively straight lines and are not free to twist and turn so as to wriggle out of range of the light.

The first thing an aviator does when he finds himself in the spotlight is to rise. That is just what the operator of the searchlight wants him to do. The higher he goes the less accurate his aim becomes and the smaller grows the chance that he can hurl his bombs at a desired point. Furthermore, he is dazzled by the light and his sense of security is completely destroyed. Sometimes he can be found out by one of the antiaircraft guns, or pursued by one of our own airplanes. Even if the searchlight crew does nothing more than to frighten an airman and drive him away it has performed a defensive act which may save quantities of stores and ammunition, to say nothing of lives.

Natural "Water Barrel."

Perhaps the most notable specimen of self-watering plants is the so-called "water barrel" which, of about the size and shape of an ordinary beer keg, is in fact nothing more or less than a living water tank. Its whole interior is composed of storage cells so admirably arranged that the pulp which they form contains something like 95 per cent of pure water.

THE RED CROSS MAN

By AMELIA JOSEPHINE BURR.
Of the Vigilantes.

Broken with pain and weariness
And sapped with vile disease,
Back to the land of ruined towns,
Of murdered men and trees,
Through Switzerland from Germany
The trains of wreckage ran,—
And on the French frontier they found
A Red Cross Man.

And when to what had once been home
These haggard exiles came,
Young wheat was green above the scars
Of steel and blood and flame
Round new built houses where once more
The work of life began.
And still they found to welcome them
A Red Cross Man.

There the husband clasped again
The wife he mourned as dead—
The child was on its mother's breast,
The old were comforted.
What wonder if they hope to find
The Angel of God's Plan
Who meets them at the heavenly gate
A Red Cross Man!

SHARE OUR SUGAR WITH THE ALLIES

British Get Two Pounds a Month. French Pound and Half, Italians One Pound.

GERMAN SUPPLY PLENTIFUL.

All Nations Permit Use of Sweetening for Home Preserving Purposes.

America's new sugar ration of two pounds a month per person is equitable when compared with the sugar ration enforced by rigid governmental order in England, France and Italy, nations with which we are sharing sugar.

Each Allied nation—in the matter of sugar consumption—is sharing on nearest possible equal terms the hardships imposed by greatly altered conditions in the world sugar situation.

Formerly classed as a luxury, sugar is now a war time essential. The fair and just division of this essential is in the hands of the various Allied food controllers.

The United States Food Administration has asked this nation to observe a voluntary sugar ration of two pounds per person a month.

In the other countries at war with Germany sugar is one of the scarce articles on every menu—whether in the households of both rich and poor, or in the hotels.

England today has a sugar ration of two pounds per month per person. In France the ration is a pound and a half and in Italy it is one pound a month. And the prices in allied countries are from two to three times as high as in America.

If you go to a hotel in England or France these days and order tea or coffee they serve absolutely no sugar with it. If you want sugar you must bring it with you.

In England it is allowable to use one-seventh of an ounce of sugar in the preparation of each luncheon. In France many persons carry little saccharine tablets about with them for use in hotels and in England rich and poor must take their sugar with them if they wish to have sweetened tea while visiting friends.

Before the war started France had 625,000 acres devoted to sugar production. By 1917 the French sugar acreage had decreased to 180,000 acres. Today the French man or woman with a sugar card has no assurance whatever that he or she will be able to actually buy sugar. To buy it, one must first find it.

Italy Has "State Sugar."

Especially drastic regulations govern the use of sugar in Italy. Its manufacture, distribution and sale are closely controlled, and in part actually taken over by the state.

Saccharine is permitted to be sold and used as a substitute for sugar and the government manufactures a mixture of saccharine and sugar called "State Sugar," which is largely used.

German Sugar Ration Adequate.

Germany, before the war, produced a great surplus of sugar and exported large quantities. Today the Germans have virtually gone out of the export business, but have plenty of cheap sugar for home use.

Wholesale prices prevalent in the Allied nations, according to information received by the United States Food Administration are as follows: England, 10 cents a pound; France, 12 cents; Italy, 26 cents.

While these high prices are being paid abroad the American wholesale price is being held at 7½ cents.

DOUBLE OF CZAR'S DAUGHTER

Mrs. Ariadne Roomanov, wife of Kerensky's secretary, experienced an unusual surprise when she arrived in Tokyo. She is the double of Tatiana, daughter of the former czar, who was reported on her way to America. Mrs. Roomanov was offered an entire wing of the imperial palace at Tokyo for her accommodation while in the Japanese capital, it being the belief that she really was the daughter of the czar.

Salesmanship.

Every man has something to sell—perhaps merchandise, possibly experience, perchance work, mayhap just plain bluff. Anywhere, any time, man has something to sell. We are all merchants, brokers, bankers, jobbers, hawkers, hucksters. From the clerk to the cabinet, from the buyer to the seller, from the regrater to the retailer all men are concerned in salesmanship.

Hubby's Memory.

A man always forgets the letter his wife gave him to mail when he left the house. But he never forgets the quarter he gave her for spending money when he left the house.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

POILU TACKLES GUM

Looked Like Food So They Tried to Eat It.

Now Have Remarkable Regard for the American Digestive Apparatus.

Paris.—One of the struggles in which the French soldiers became involved when the Germans swept across the Aisne between Soissons and Reims was with chewing gum. I refer to Chicle Americanus, the—to us—well-known vegetable product which may be found adhering to the underside of desks, to shoe soles, and to trouser seats throughout the United States. The self-same article that at once solaces the weary shop girl and the tired business man who endeavors therewith to conceal the fume of the drinks that cheer.

An American ambulance train was operating in the general region of the drive, and the army post exchanges established and operated for it by the Y. M. C. A. were well supplied with the things which are necessary to the comfort—physical and mental—of the American soldier. The Red Triangle officials had established a storehouse to supply these exchanges, and a carload of supplies had been shipped to it just before the Germans started their drive. The carload carried—besides chocolate, tobacco, canned goods, cookies, etc.—a considerable quantity of chewing gum.

When the drive started the Red Triangle workers available started out with what they could carry to serve the men to whom they were attached. The storehouse was left deserted. As the French retired they foraged to keep supplies from falling into enemy hands, using what they could and destroying the rest.

The Poilus who came upon the chewing gum—like most Frenchmen—were totally unfamiliar with it. They knew only that it looked like food, was wrapped like food, and was stored with other things they knew to be food. They ventured further and tried it, stuffing the entire contents of a package into their mouths at one time. It tasted like food, so after a brief period of mastication they essayed to swallow it. Too many of them succeeded. While no serious casualties resulted the Poilus were inspired with a remarkable regard for American digestive apparatuses and considerable awe for American edibles.

Old Cheese.

One of the best grades of Italian cheese is sold only after it has been seasoned for at least four years.

Cast Iron Rust Proof.

For many purposes cast iron is preferable to steel because it is comparatively rust proof.

Your Automobile As a War Necessity

THERE never will be any criticism of the use of an automobile for business or health. In business it is indispensable. And the only recreation and fresh air some men get is driving. It offers them a diversion that keeps them tuned up to the strenuous times in which we are living.

The only satisfactory way to take care of a car is in a Garage of your own. It saves time—it makes possible too, careful attention that lengthens the life of your car—it enables you to get the most out of it.

Our book of Garage plans contains designs of garages at prices far below what they would be if lumber had advanced in proportion to other staple commodities.

And for a surprisingly small amount, you can finish your Garage outside with

FROM CABBAGES TO KINGS

Writer Impressed by Accumulation of Subject Matter of Every Description in Print.

Perhaps the most valuable instrument for perpetuation is the printing press, writes Bruce Cummings in Science Progress. No sooner is an event over than it is reported in the daily press, and the newspaper preserved in the British museum for all time.

Within the sacred rotunda of the British museum reading room may be perused the novels of Charles Garvice, as well as the great Chinese encyclopedia of the Emperor Kiang-hi in 5,020 volumes.

In books our knowledge to date is rounded up and displayed; you may read a book on a lump of coal, a grass blade, a seaworm, on hair combs, carpets, ships, sticks, sealing wax, cabbages, kings, cosmetics, Kant. A very thick volume indeed was published last year upon the thorax of a field cricket. It would require a learned man to catalogue the literature that deals with such comparatively trivial subjects as the history of the Punch-and-Judy show, or the history of playing cards.

At the present rapid rate of accumulation the time must come when the British museum, thousands of years hence, will occupy an area as large as London, and the Encyclopedia Britannica be housed in a building as big as the Crystal palace; an accumulation of learning to make Aristotle and Scaliger turn pale.

GETS INTO ARMY AT LAST

Man Tries for Three Years to Join, and Leaves in 30 Minutes When Chance Comes.

Pasadena, Cal.—Louis Deschamps is a Frenchman and a patriot.

Illness has kept Louis from the battle front for three and a half years, but he kept persevering and recently succeeded passing a physical examination. Then, just 30 minutes before 36 draft men were to leave Pasadena for American Lake, Deschamps appeared before draft officials of exemption board No 2.

"I've passed my examination," he shouted. "What are my chances for action?"

"Your chances are fine," was the answer, "if you can get ready in thirty minutes."

Deschamps chartered a high-powered automobile, closed up his business affairs in record time and was the second of the drafted men to board the train.

First Lay-Off in 65 Years.

Worcester, Mass.—Henry Clay Graton, founder of the Graton & Knight Manufacturing company, took his first lay-off from work recently when he celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday anniversary by going out for a twelve-hour automobile ride. The firm was established 65 years ago and he has been punching the clock 312 regular days, and some Sundays, every year since.

AMONG SMOKERS OF DISCRIMINATION

Adlon cigars are held in high favor. Their fine flavor, aroma and soothing mildness make Adlons the favorites with men who know good tobacco in its best form. We ask you to try an Adlon today and judge it strictly on its merits. The price is no indication whatever of its superior qualities.

Airplane Needs Strong Wood.

A modern airplane propeller is one of the strongest and most perfect products of man's handicraft.

Some airplane engines run at 1,700 revolutions a minute and can be geared up to 2,000. An engine of this power would use a nine-foot-six-inch propeller and the speed of the blade ends would be in the neighborhood of 600 miles an hour.

Revolving at this terrific rate, the slightest imperfection in the wood from which the propellers are made would tend to disrupt them and cause them to fly to pieces.

For this reason only the best and hardest wood from the heart of the tree is used for propeller blades. It takes 2,000 feet of timber in the rough to furnish 250 feet of wood good enough for propellers.

Black walnut is the very best kind of wood for propeller blades, for, besides being immensely tough, it does not splinter when hit by a projectile. Next in the order named, come mahogany, white oak, ash, maple, birch and cherry.

Enamel From Trees.

The beautiful enamel which is used for covering Japanese trays, boxes, etc., and on which the pearl inlaid flowers and figures show so brilliantly, is obtained from the sap of the lacquer tree. This tree grows sometimes to the height of 30 to 40 feet in Japan.

Sure It's Warm.

Yes, this is a hot spell; but do not fume about it. The one thing that is no concern of yours is the weather. You must take it as it comes, and the more serenely and placidly you meet the inevitable the better it will be for you. Easily you can disturb yourself over it, but you cannot possibly affect the weather—not in the slightest. Therefore, attend to your own business, which in this case is yourself. Don't fret, don't over eat, don't drink stimulants, don't drink too much ice water, don't run around in the sun unnecessarily. Eat fruits and vegetables with such other foods as are not heating; wear light clothing, bathe freely and frequently and do not overexercise. Those who follow these simple rules, which all understand, are not likely to suffer much from the excessive heat. In case of feeling overcome by the heat a wet cloth on the forehead is much better than fanning, especially if you have to manipulate the fan.—[Times-Union.

More Than a Bit.

Mrs. Sara Sherwood of Springfield, whose five sons are in the army, is operating a 250-acre farm outside of the city, and doing it very well, though she is 81 years of age. And in spite of the mundane plants of this lady there is a woman well past 50, supporting a blind husband, so that her three sons may join the colors. Women such as these are doing their bit to help win the war as though they were the uniform in France.—[Lowell Courier-Citizen.

RACE PURSES INCREASED

For Central New York Fair at Oneonta September 16-20, $400 Being Offered for Each Event.

With the largest purses ever offered in the county and the largest offered this year among 11 fair associations in the Central New York circuit, the races at the Oneonta fair, Sept 16-20, promise to be the best the city has ever witnessed and the best in all this section of the state, no other fair management having offered purses above $250, while the purses here are $400 for each event. The officials increased the purses here this year, they announce, in harmony with the request of the federal authorities, who ask that the utmost possible be done by the fair associations giving exhibits to promote the breeding of horses for cavalry purposes and in encouraging the production of foods for our armies and our Allies.

Inquiries are now coming from horsemen, and as the entries do not close until Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 11 p. m., it is expected that the list of entries will be unusually large and the resultant races most exciting. With only three fairs in the county this year, the attendance at the biggest fair of all this section will, it is believed, be the largest in its history.

Following is the program for the races for the four days following the opening day, upon which no races are run:

Tuesday, September 17.

Class No. 1—2:24 trot $400
Class No. 2—2:30 pace and 2:26 trot $400

Wednesday, September 18.

Class No. 3—2:15 pace and 2.11 trot $400
Class No. 4—2:20 pace and 2:16 trot $400

Thursday, Sept. 19.

Class No. 5—2:15 trot $400
Class No. 6—2:22 pace and 2:18 trot $400

Friday, September 20.

Class No. 7—Free-for-All $400
Class No. 8—2:20 trot $400

OFF FOR FT. SLOCUM.

Oneonta Contingent Numbers 14 and the Cooperstown One 12.

Escorted to the station by the Oneonta City band and a goodly number of citizens, 14 registrants from the Oneonta district and 12 from Cooperstown departed at 6:30 yesterday morning for Ft. Slocum, where they will commence training for the army. The men reported at the armory at 5:45 o'clock and all were on hand with one exception, who was delayed and did not reach the station until the train was about ready to leave. Already the Exemption Board had his substitute seated in the car. The belated chap arrived in time to save some explanation.

The men from here were in charge of Robert L. Johnson, the third son of Rev. J. C. Johnson of this city to join the colors, and his assistant was Glen M. Hall. The party was accompanied from the city by Secretary Davis of the Y. M. C. A.

McKEAN IN SEMI-FINALS.

Oneonta's Golfer One of the Four to Play Today.

S. E. McKean, who is representing Oneonta in the Red Cross golf tournament at the Yahnundasis Golf club, won both his games yesterday, defeating his morning opponent 5 up and 3 to go, and his afternoon contestant by 6 up and 5 to go. This morning he enters the semi-finals as one of the four contestants and will play Arthur Yates of the Oak Hill Golf club, who is a strong contender. Should he meet with success this forenoon, it is quite likely that his opponent this afternoon will be Sherill Sherman of the Yahnundasis club, probably the strongest player in Utica. Mr. McKean certainly has acquitted himself with credit to remain until the semi-finals.

Benefit at Sherman Lake.

An entertainment and dance, given for the benefit of the Permanent Blind Soldiers and Sailors Relief fund, was held at Sherman lake Thursday night and proved to be quite a success, the entire proceeds amounting to $25.

Theresa Sherman, Lotie Kelly and various little kiddies stopping at the lake presented a patriotic little offering, which was well received.

Before the dance Mr. Sherman addressed the audience and told of the purpose of the fund and thanked everyone for their loyal co-operation. Mr. Sherman was quoted as saying that he stands ready and willing, should the occasion arise, to assist a similar patriotic movement at any future date, and is always ready to "do his bit" for the nation. Music was furnished by Styles and Young.

Leaving for Camp Dix.

This morning the Local Exemption Board will start one colored registrant for Camp Dix, Pat Barnes, recently employed at Cooperstown Junction. He was registered in Mississippi, but at the request of that board he is sent forward from here to save expense.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN DINE.

Addressed by Mrs. John Francis Yawger of New York and Others.

Aiming to make the members of the women's division of the Republican county committee of Otsego valuable aids in the fall campaign, a dinner was given them at The Oneonta last evening and about 40 were in attendance and if they fail to give a good account of themselves in future campaigns it will not result from any failure to present them an abundance of helpful practical suggestions upon effective political work, for they abounded in all the speeches which followed the excellent dinner served.

Mrs. U. G. Welch of Edmeston, chairman of the woman's division presided and herself offered many suggestions of value. The chief speaker was Mrs. John Francis Yawger of New York, chairman of the state division of women, and she brought to the workers of Otsego a most cheering and reassuring message as to the opportunity for useful service open to them. A campaign of education is essential to inform the women of their duties, the obligations of full citizenship and the how of effective work for the success of the party she said. Mrs. Yawger followed with a general outline of the work to be undertaken and the best methods of accomplishing results. It was an address that would have been helpful to many an experienced worker of the opposite sex.

Seated with the women were Frank G. Sherman, chairman of the county committee; Hon. Allen G. Bloomfield, candidate for re-election as member of assembly; Justice A. L. Kellogg, Judge U. G. Welch, Dr. J. C. Smith, John A. Losee of Richfield Springs and other gentlemen, whose wives were in the party.

Mr. Sherman, Assemblyman Bloomfield and Judge Welch were called upon for some remarks and they gave some chapters from their own experiences in politics and offered many helpful suggestions to the ladies in efforts to advance the interests of the party in the county. It is believed that the gathering will prove of much value to successful work by the women.

An Experience Meeting.

The East End Home Economics club met last evening at the home of Mrs. L. B. Murdock, 494 Main street. There was a good attendance, and the session was called a get-acquainted meeting, in which the members met informally. Afterwards there was an Experience meeting in which each one present told of their work and their successes and failures. The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in September in the East End school house.

HAS EXPERIENCE WITH GAS

Frank Olds, More Than Six Months in France Writes of Visiting Advanced Posts.

Following is a part of a letter received from Frank C. Olds, who is a mechanician with S. S. Y., No. 524, Convois automobiles, at Paris, France, by his brother, Harley G. Olds of 27 Brook street, this city:

"Expect to go to the front most any day for we have been doing evacuation work since we came back from the front. This will make the third time we have been working at the front, each time for about ten days, but expect this next time to be at least a month or so.

"I went up the other night and had my first smell of sneeze gas, so I now know sneeze, mustard and another kind that I did not know the official name, from smelling them. I guess you heard about my using my gas mask for one-half hour for the gas last mentioned. It smells like gas from a carbon light.

"I made a trip up to the front a couple of nights ago to learn our new posts, when we go up which were 12 in number, and quite lively. There were about five which we could not go to in the day time, so we had to make the trip at night. There was one post in particular which no one could go to only in case of special order, but we slipped down to it and they informed us of our mistake so we wheeled right around and out we went. I don't know how close we were to the line, but I will bet not many hundred yards, but could not judge very near. Another post after dark we drove into the town and the sergeant said there is the post and just then a window light fell out of a house across the street and it was a case of driving right in, turning around and driving right out again, for they just started to shell the town as we arrived there."

MAKES ROUND IN 65.

Professional O'Connor of Oneonta Country Club Makes Good Score.

J. O'Connor, professional at the Oneonta Country club, met John Stout of the Stamford Country club on the local links for a friendly game on Friday, winning the match and making the score of 65 for the 18 holes, which is considered excellent for so young a player.

The score of O'Connor for the 18 holes is as follows: 3, 4, 5, 2, 4, 4, 3, 4, 4, 4, 4, 3, 5, 4, 3, 3, 4—65.

Mr. Stout played quite steady golf, his score being: 4, 5, 3, 4, 5, 4, 4, 5, 4, 4, 3, 4, 4, 4, 4, 5, 5, 4—73.
